PRESENTATION

A year in Fairmont College is over. Silently it has disappeared in the endless corridors of time. Time that unobtrusively ran its course through September . . . December . . . March . . . June. Summer ended; fall descended. The brittle spearing air became metallic, hard and sparkling as jewels. Winter. The buildings clothed in white. Again the scene changes: rain; a birds nest above an entrance way; the wind's touch, a caress. Dusk . . . the setting of the sun . . . June. A year in Fairmont college is over, gone.

When, in the fall, work was begun on this yearbook the Mound Staff cast about in their minds for a new, original manner in which to present the year of one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine. The solution to the problem was discovered in the element of time, its flight. It was decided that the "year of '39" would be presented to you just as it happened in its chronological passage.

It is the earnest desire of the staff that each student, leafing through these pages, will be able to identify his own activities successively, month by month, as they fit into the pattern of the entire year. Place yourself, if you will, in the position of a newcomer to the college. Everything is new, strange. Successively he becomes acquainted with the campus, the faculty, the student government. On Dad's Day he becomes fully conscious of the Sophomore class. During "Hell Week", the fraternities. The 1939 Mound, then, is a chronological record of a full year at Fairmont State College, as it might appear through the eyes of a Freshman who has just passed through it.

My Diary

Kids: a Boy and a Girl, symbols of the group, fresh from high school, who, in the fall, became a part of the student body. Yesterday they doffed their caps and gowns; today they are, again, beginners. Pausing on the steps for a moment, their eyes traveling the length of the great columns, they envision, behind the huge facade, a new life, new hope, and the fulfillment of a great many of their ambitions. What great expectations they have for what is to come! And

DEDICATION

... four years later they again appear, frocked in graduation caps and gowns. Below them lies the city, and the entire world. New vistas, fresh horizons are theirs. Again they are beginners, this time at a life far more complex than the one they are just leaving. Behind them they leave a world of formals, cram sessions and textbooks for the struggle to find their place beyond the clouds in the world of today.

It is to you, the freshmen of this year and years to come, that we respectfully dedicate this volume.

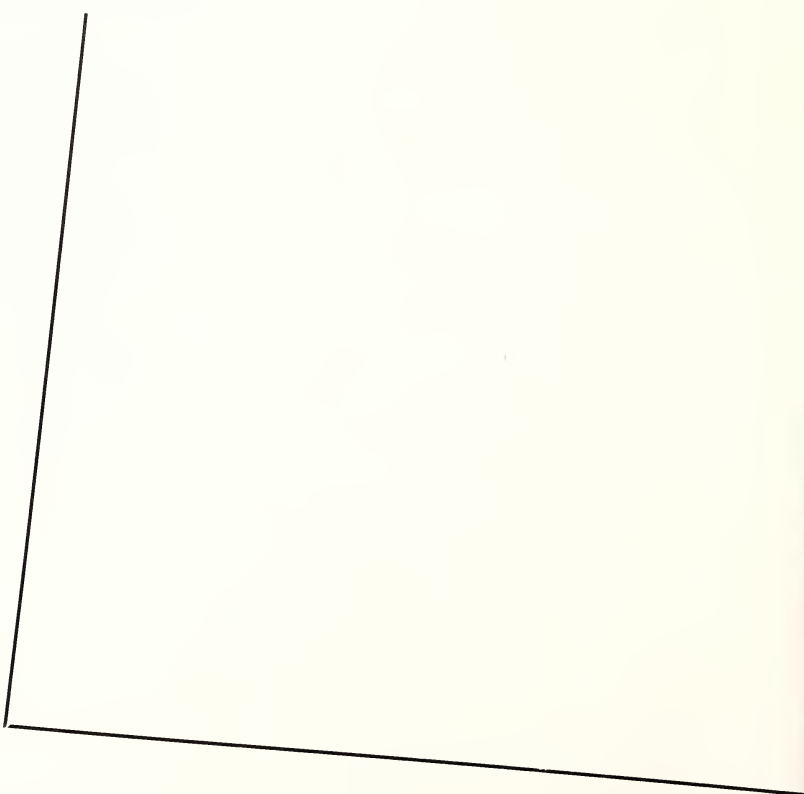

Our college campus is the stage upon which the freshmen, taking his cue, mounts. The stage itself is made up of many parts: the Administration building, in which he plays his largest role; the Science Hall, of which the Social room is a part; Rosier Knob, scene of many a thrilling football struggle; the Gymnasium; and of course, Marrow Hall, girls dormitory.

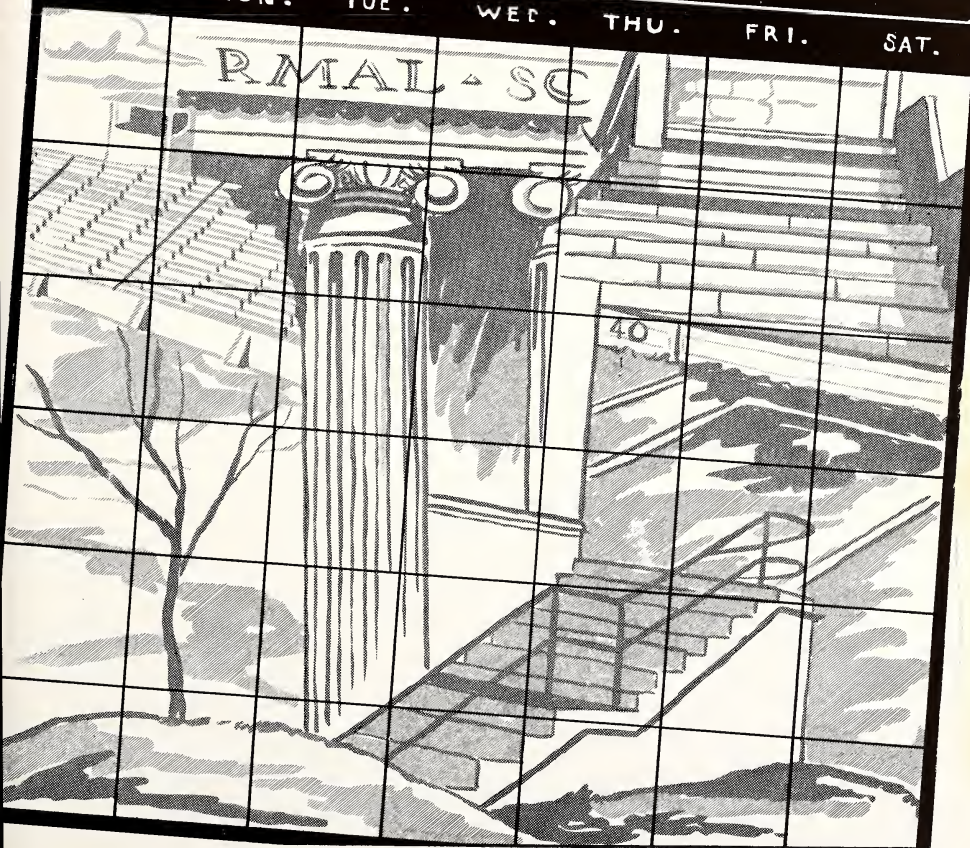

The stage is set; the curtain begins to rise.

The play has begun.

Now that the rigors of registration are over, the turmoil of things settle slightly. The freshmen, by now, have met a portion of the faculty members. And he has some of the frequent student bull-sessions, heard something about the ones he hasn't met, for the "faculty" is one of the favorite topics. The freshmen begins to realize to what a great extent the college are run by the student government. As the month of comes to a close, the freshman boy has finally mastered the art of a maroon disk upon his head so that it doesn't slide down his neck.

SEPT. 12---FACULTY MEETING

The administrative body of Fairmont College is composed of five distinct parts. The first and highest authority in the college is the president, Dr. Rosier. When all other sources of authority fail it is to him that one must appeal on any subject pertaining to the activities on the campus.

The next group, serving in double capacity, is the Deans, Dean of Instruction, Dean of Men, and Dean of Women. They serve not only in their official status as Deans, but also as instructors.

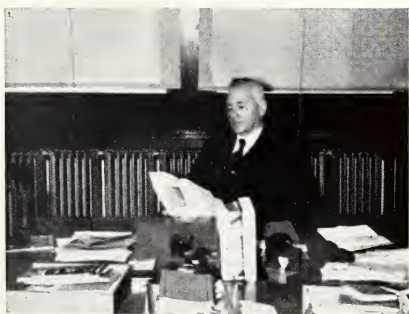

The faculty comprises the third group in this administrative pyramid. They reign supreme, emperors, over the class rooms.

The fourth group which aids in keeping this college running smoothly is the office force. An integral part of the whole, they handle the statistics and all of the office work.

The last, but by no means the least important is the Student Council. This student-elected group attends to all of the affairs of the students.

Together these five closely related groups rule the destinies of the students and of the college.

Student government at Fairmont State Teachers College is one of the most highly developed student governments in the state. It was inaugurated in November, nineteen hundred and seven, and since that time has steadily grown stronger and more efficient in its functioning.

The student government has encouraged a close co-operation with the administration and faculty, a higher degree of self-sufficiency and a manifestation of authoritative interest.

This year another group of freshmen entered into the activities of Fairmont State College with a great deal of zeal that is somehow characteristic of Freshmen classes at F.S.T.C. The time was short indeed until they made themselves known in every phase of college life; in major athletics as well as in social fraternities and classes.

Early in the year the class elected officers, and in a short time became an important, well organized group. An easily adapted class, they performed all the functions expected of them; they gave an assembly program, performed on a radio program, and gave a banquet and dance. Later in the year they entered a float in the Dad's Day parade.

Now, the Freshman class is fully accepted in all the circles on the hill. Members of that group will go on earnestly striving through their years at Fairmont State College, hoping to conquer all obstacles in their path.

IN REVIEW

Football plunges into the spotlight. It looms large in the center of the stage and sidesteps for no other activity on the hill: king for the season. Comes the evening before a big game, and on the highest point on the knob a huge bonfire lights up the sky. Exultant cheers, led by the yell squad, echo over the hill. Freshman boys, colorful in striped pajamas, march behind the college band down Locust Avenue; and the final section of the "thuse" meeting is held on the courthouse steps.

For a short time the Sophomore class crowds its way into the amber lights when they supervise the annual Dad's Day celebration.

OCTOBER 7 --- F. S. C. CONCORD

CONCORD 24, FAIRMONT 7

In the opening game of the season the local eleven went down to defeat after staging a brilliant battle. The teams left the field at the half with the Maroon and White on top by a 7-6 margin, but the Lions' second-half razzle-dazzle attack tricked the Teachers into a 17-point loss. Halfback Rollins scored the local touchdown on a buck from the one-yard line and then added the extra point in the same manner.

SALEM 27, FAIRMONT 6

Ed Davis' Salem Tigers outplayed the Fairmont eleven in all departments of the game to defeat the Colebankers by three touchdowns in the local Dad's Day struggle. Jack Asay was the shining star for the visitors and he accounted for two of the Salem touchdowns by virtue of his elusiveness. Billingham took a pass from Newbrough that was good for 30 yards and Fairmont's only score of the game.

In the "curtain" game of the grid season the local eleven chalked up a clear-cut victory over the Bisons from the northern panhandle. With Billingham inter-

For the second consecutive year the Teachers and the Vulcans fought to a scoreless tie in a Homecoming Day game. Fairmont made the only real scoring threat of the battle when they marched 65 yards to the Pennsylvanians' nine-yard stripe before losing possession of the oval. Newbrough and Billingham were outstanding on the defense, with Christner and Tatta the best on the line.

WEST LIBERTY 14, FAIRMONT 6

Joe Bartell's Hilltoppers came from behind in the second half to nip the Colebankers in a classy struggle played at the Island Stadium in Wheeling. Newbrough tossed to Billingham for 32 yards and a touchdown at the end of the first half, but West Liberty came back strong and scored once in the third and then again in the fourth quarter to win. Christner and Grake played great defensive ball for the losing attack.

FAIRMONT 0, SHEPHERD 0

The Maroon and White staged its second scoreless draw with the Shepherd Rams at Shepherdstown in another Homecoming Day celebration. Both teams were so evenly matched that there was not much to choose, and most of the game was played between the two 30-yard markers. Newbrough, Rowand, and Christner were the stars for Fairmont in this game.

GLENVILLE 14, FAIRMONT 0

Jim McMillen scored 14 points for the Pioneers in the second quarter of this game to defeat a determined band of Fighting Teachers. Fairmont gave the Glenville team a bruising battle before succumbing. Lovio, Jeffries, and Barnes were the backfield aces for Fairmont in this engagement, while Christner and Grake played the entire game on the line.

the other Colebanker tally, while a pass also accounted for Bethany's lone score of the day. It was in this game that the new grid sensation, Harold Willey, was "discovered".

Here we have a group of hard-working individuals who answered the every need of the football team, both on and off the gridiron. In the upper left hand picture is "Honest Jasper" Colebank, athletic director and head football coach. Coach Colebank has been at the helm of the local ship of athletics for 15 years, and the work he has accomplished here is a by-word throughout the state.

The captain of the team this year was Angelo Crescenzi, while Tom Manley was the generalissimo of the managerial staff. Both are pictured above in the right hand corner in a way of further honoring this duo of hard-working men. Captain Crescenzi led the Fighting Teachers in a capable manner, while Manager Manley was tendering his services when ever needed.

For the first time in several years the Mound is presenting a picture of the cheerleaders as a small reward for their untiring efforts in stimulating school-spirit. The quartet above, Katherine Vennari, Leonard Broidy, Charles Varner, and Barbara Fankhauser, did their tasks in a par excellence manner and have the sincere thanks of the local athletic teams.

Second Row—Backfield Coach Duvall, Duke, Hess, Harper, J. Andrick, C. Hess, Eberly, Oliverio, J. Hess, Corrothers, Mosser, Davis, Poe, Dilgard, D. Grake, Trainer Evans, Manager Jones.

ANGELO CRESCENZI, Captain

During the past gridiron season the work of the leader was most outstanding. Crescenzi was a bulwark of the defense, and had it not been for an injured proboscis, would have attained even greater glory in the football sphere. "Angle" graduates.

ED BILLINGHAM, Captain-Elect

As a proper reward for his sterling work of the past three seasons, Ed was elected captain of the 1939 football team. The new captain holds down the right halfback post and is one of the best blockers on the team, as well as being an elusive runner. Billingham was named on the annual all-conference team for 1938.

BILL ROLLINS, Back

Here is a freshman who served notice at the start of the year that big things were to be expected from him. Bill was Billingham's running mate and gave every indication that his name will be among the stars during his sojourn here at F.S.T.C.

MITCHELL BODZEK, End

"Mike" came to the Fighting Teacher stronghold from Farmington and immediately annexed a regular terminal position. Playing a slashing game all the time Bodzek is another freshman who turned in many stellar performances in way of prognosticating a great career on the gridiron.

CARL NEWBROUGH, Back

Carl was the triple-threat of the local backfield during the 1938 season and did all of his duties in a versatile manner. His blocking, running, passing, and kicking feared nearly every game of the year. The next three years should produce even bigger headlines for this local scholastic son.

JUNE ANDRICK, Guard

Hailing from Phillips, this diminutive lineman packed plenty of punch when the going was the toughest for the Colebankers. June will be playing his fourth year next fall and from all indications should top off his brilliant football work here at Fairmont with his best year.

DAVID ROWAND, End

Fairmont was fortunate in having such ends as the eh-bers of Rowand and Bodzek. Like Bodzek, Rowand played a heads-up, slashing brand of football during every minute of play. Dave's greatest game was against the Shepherd Rams, where he was the star of defense all day.

SAM GRAKE, Guard

"Ines" played his second year as a regular under Coach Colebank and succeeded in turning in another successful campaign. Although slight of stature, Grake plowed through to make most of his tackles behind the line of scrimmage. With defense his middle name, Sam also proved to be an adept running guard.

HORACE CHRISTNER, Center

In his first year of collegiate football, "Horse" was one of the outstanding players of the year. Besides being a stone-wall on the defense he also was one of the best of the local gridirers on pass-defense. With all his other chores, Christner also did the signal calling in an excellent style.

JOHN TATTA, Tackle

"Spud" was one of the toughest of the Maroon and White linemen and played brilliant ball in every game. Also a freshman, Tatta furnished the opposition plenty of worries and gave every indication that his name will go down in the annals as one of the best tackles ever to play on Rosier Knob.

JOHN BART, Tackle

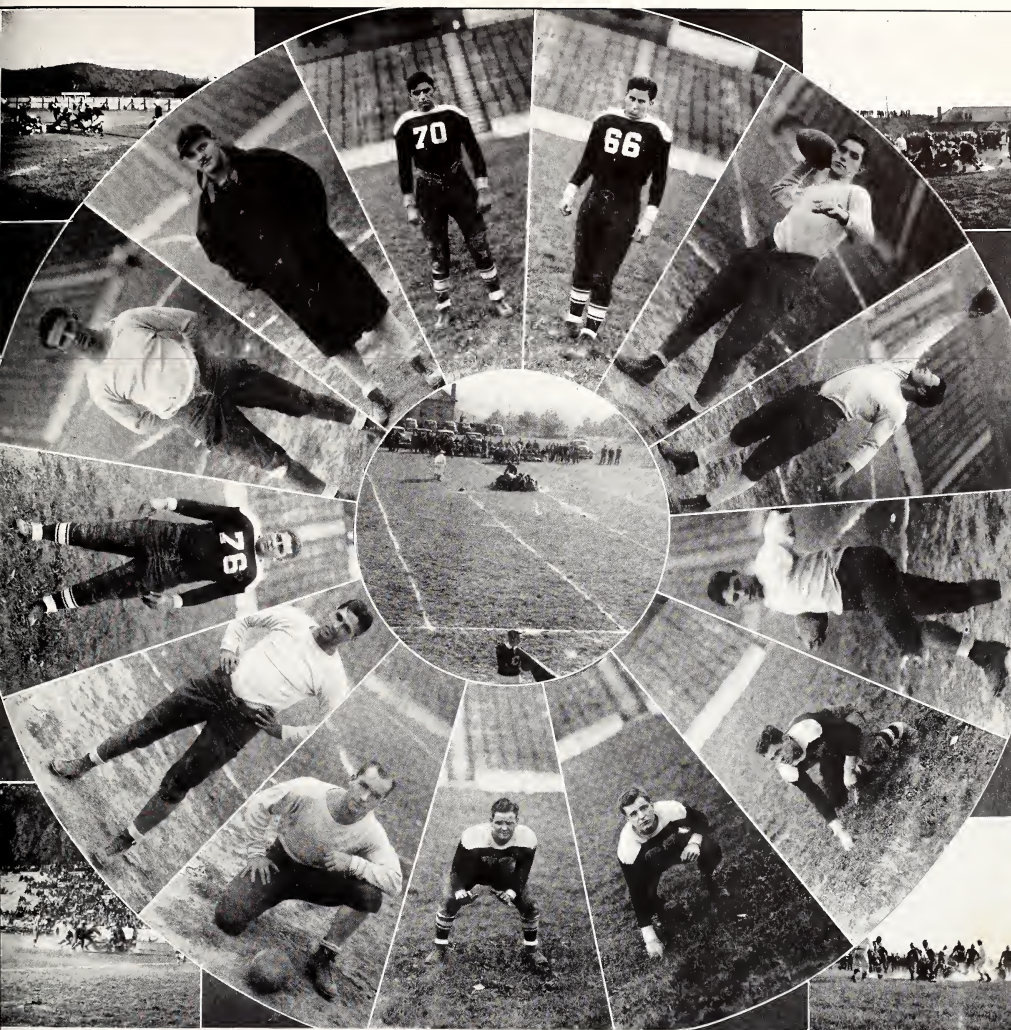

Coming to Fairmont with Grake from a successful grid career at Shilohston High, Johnny has played two brilliant years for the Fighting Teacher eleven. Tipping the scales at 215 pounds, Bart naturally was one of the most rigged of the local linemen on the defense.

TONY LOVIO, Back

The best blocker of the local team was "Totes" Lovio. His method of paving the way for the other backs was the highlight of many games, and when called upon to do the ball-carrying made an average of five yards per try. In next three years should blossom with another bright grid iron career.

DR. TOM EVANS, Trainer

Fairmont State was indeed fortunate in having such a capable trainer as "Doc" Evans during the past season. Tom, a former star for the Fighting Teachers, answered the every need of the local injured and kept the team in shape all fall. The fact that "Doc" gave his services gratis further endeared him on the Knob.

An important, integral part of the college is the Sophomore class. This group that as freshmen entered the college in 1937 have lost a bit of their boldness, and have begun to realize the important roll they have to play on the college stage.

As Freshmen they were a lively group, that gave impetus to the lagging spirit of the entire student body. They were active in a great many phases of college life.

This year they met and elected officers, a competent group that has fulfilled all the expectations of the group that elected them. The climactic event of the Sophomore class activities came with their expert handling of Dad's Day.

Dramatics comes to the fore. About the Scene Shop and on the stage there is a ceaseless hum of activity. Boys in brown coveralls build sets and daub experimentally at slabs of canvas-covered frames, scenery. Girls, pins in their mouths, sew busily at costumes. At last costumes are finished, the scenery is built and set up; and the last few difficult cues of the actors have been mastered. The first Masquers production, "No More Peace", is staged.

One day in November the student governing body headed by Jack Rowand, Student Body President, neglected their duties at school; and took upon themselves a much greater task, that of governing the city of Fairmont for a day.

THE MONTH

IN REVIEW

As snow falls, blanketing the campus, basketball crowds football off the stage and into the wings. Amid the fanfare provided by the college band basketball lightly moves on stage and gives a graceful thrilling performance. The holidays! Everyone says they're great, but is as glad as anyone else when they're over. It is now winter in earnest. The students buckle down and study harder than before, because in those last woeful days in January there come the semester exams.

DECEMBER 6 --- F. S. T. C. vs KINGWOOD

Blaine (Ank) Ankrom captained the 1938-39 Fighting Teacher basketball quintet in a fiery manner. By his prior rights as the veteran of the squad, "Ank" was chosen as the leader and he paced the team to many victories during the basketball season. Injuries kept him on the sidelines for several battles, but his return to the lineup spurred the team on to greater heights. Captain Ankrom's offensive attack accounted for 164 points during the year, with the game at Athens against the Concord Mountain Lions his best single performance. Only a junior, Captain Ankrom should make the 1939-40 season his best.

The man who answered the needs of the squad in a capable style was Tom Manley. His cheery manner and clever personality were an asset to the basketball season, while needless to say he handled the financial and other tasks efficiently. Tom was manager of both the basketball and football teams this past year.

1938-1939 BASKETBALL RECORD

FAIRMONT 48, KINGWOOD 36

The annual basketball season opened at home with the local dribblers defeating the strong Independents from Kingwood by a safe 12-point margin. Fairmont led all the way and held a 24-12 half-time advantage.

FAIRMONT 52, NEW RIVER 33

On the second leg of the two-day trip the Fairmont squad again rang up a victory, this time at the expense of Steve Harriek's Golden Bears. Thompson and Jeffries paced the Teacher scoring attack, while Billingham was the bulwark of the defense.

GLENNVILLE 57, FAIRMONT 40

Facing the strongest team in the conference, Fairmont led the Pioneers a merry chase throughout the game only to lose out in the final minutes of play. Paced by the lanky Thompson the Teachers were leading, 28-25, at the half-time, but Nate Rohrbough's smooth combination began to "click" to victory.

FAIRMONT 61, WEST LIBERTY 44

Jeffries and Thompson collected 32 points between them in the first half to roll up a 47-18 half-time advantage that the visiting Hilltoppers never were able to overcome and the Colebankers snapped a five-game losing streak. Joe Bartlett's machine was the victim of a "clicking" local outfit.

BETHANY 58, FAIRMONT 48

Fairmont was unable to overcome a 29-15 half-time command established by the panhandle Bisons and went down for their second consecutive loss. Kuhns and Thompson with 17 points each were the two high bombers of the struggle.

CONCORD 62, FAIRMONT 51

The Lions got sweet revenge on the local court and upset the local outfit with a late rally that gave the visitors a 11-point victory. Fairmont led throughout most of the scrap but fell by the wayside in the closing moments of play. Jeffries and Capt. Ankrom co-starred for the Teachers.

SALEM 65, FAIRMONT 44

Ed Davis' Tigers won their second game on the Colebankers in a ragged game on the Salem floor. Jeffries and Willey sparked the Teachers, while Cantnera with 23 points was the game's leading bucket-snagger.

DAVIS-ELKINS 57, FAIRMONT 56

Fairmont rallied desperately in the closing minutes of play, but failed to overcome a 22-22 half-time lead of the Senators. Jeffries set his high mark of the season with 31 points, while Marovich with 14 points was the visitors' high scorer in the thrill-packed struggle.

MARIETTA 55, FAIRMONT 37

The first inter-collegiate game found the Fighting Teachers dropping a hard-fought battle to the leading quintet in the 0-0 section. The local team fell behind in the waning moments of play after staging a nip-and-tuck struggle through 35 minutes of play. Jeffries and Metlung, two freshmen, were the stars.

CALIFORNIA 29, FAIRMONT 26

In probably their poorest exhibition of the season, the local quint dropped a close three-point decision to the Pennsylvania Vulcans. The battle was close all the way, but Fairmont never managed to get in front. Jeffries was high man with 10 points.

SALEM 50, FAIRMONT 41

A veteran Tiger machine jumped to an early lead in the local arena and were never on the short end of the count. Thompson and Jeffries sparked the local attack, while Cantnera and Iulin were Salem's best performers.

FAIRMONT 52, WESLEYAN 45

The Fighting Teachers broke a 19-year jinx on the Buckhamton floor and defeated the Bobcats before a packed house. Jeffries tossed in 20 points to pace the Maroon and White attack, while Andrick, with 25 points, was the game's high scorer. A see-saw battle throughout, Fairmont spurred to win in the stretch.

BROADBUSH 71, FAIRMONT 69

With Jeffries swishing the net for 30 points the Fairmont cagers gave the Battlers a real struggle before succumbing by a two-point margin in the best game to date. Hinzman again collected 23 points as Fairmont's most dangerous opponent. The Teachers trailed throughout the game.

WESLEYAN 48, FAIRMONT 47

The Bobcats won their third victory over Fairmont on the local floor in the 19-year span by the narrowest of margins. Jeffries' ejection from the game probably cost the Teachers victory, while Ankrom and Murphy took over the scoring burden nobly. Jenkins and Moore were the "Cats" aces and won the game in the final seconds of play.

FAIRMONT 60, BETHANY 59

Tatta's foul in the final 35 seconds of play gave the Maroon and White a close victory over the Bisons in a return scrap. However, it was again the stellar work of Jeffries, Willey, and Murphy that stood out for the winning combination.

WAYNESBURG 74, FAIRMONT 62

After a rough, hard scrap the local quintet fell before the veteran Yellow Jack combination in a return battle. Feisler, Pasquale, and Summers sparked the winning attack, while Billingham's defensive work was the highlight of the local team.

FAIRMONT 47, CONCORD 43

With Capt. Ankrom setting the pace with 20 points, the Colebankers chalked up its first conference victory at the Mountain Lions' expense. Fairmont held a 28-12 half-time advantage and were never behind, although the south-erners rallied desperately against the locals' "shock troop".

BROADBUSH 53, FAIRMONT 43

After leading the visitors on even terms for three-quarters of the game, Fairmont wilted in the ebbing moments of play to Rex Pyles' strong combination from Philippi. Three Fairmont men—Thompson, Jeffries, and Pence—each collected 10 points; however, Hinzman for Broadbush took high-scoring honors with 21 points.

DAVIS-ELKINS 60, FAIRMONT 45

The Scarlet Hurricane led by three ace bombers—Allman, Winne, and Marovich—blasted the Maroon and White with a 16-point loss in the Elkins gymnasium. Capt. Ankrom was the heavy gunner for Fairmont with 16 points, but could not match the Senators.

WEST LIBERTY 68, FAIRMONT 40

In a complete reversal of form, the local cagers were swamped by the Hilltoppers in the return scrap at West Liberty. The Bartellmen were hotter than jail house coffee and won the game by a comfortable 28-point margin. Shadle and Kuzmicki each with 23 points led the West Liberty team, with Thompson's 14 points Fairmont's best.

WAYNESBURG 65, FAIRMONT 38

Against the best non-conference foe on the schedule the Rosier Knobbers dropped a 27-point game to Frank Wolf's Yellow Jackets. The smooth-passing combination of the Wolfpack was too much and the locals only threat was Jeffries with 17 points.

FAIRMONT 75, CALIFORNIA 41

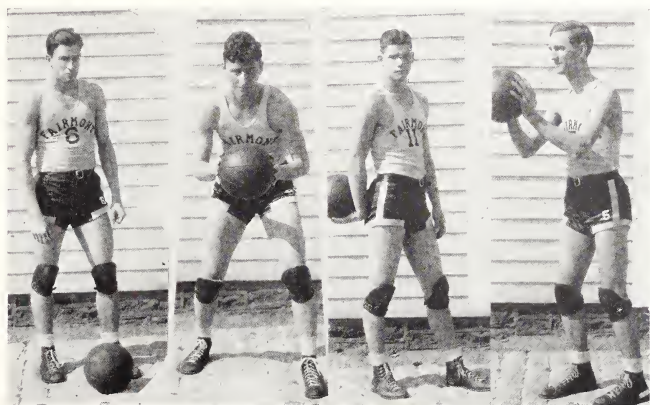

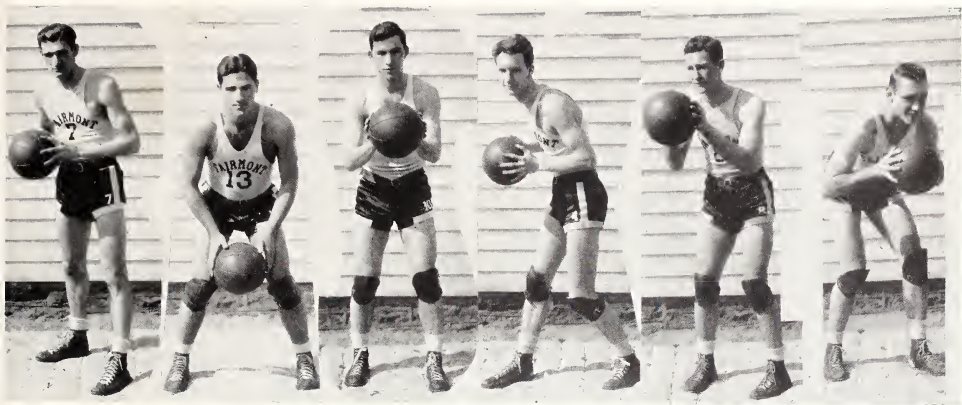

With Jeffries leading the attack with 28 points, the Fighting Teachers turned on the power to smother the Pennsylvania quintet and gain sweet revenge for an earlier defeat. The outcome was never in doubt after the locals jumped to a 39-15 half-time lead. Fairmont's 65 points was its second high mark of the season.

FAIRMONT 76, NEW RIVER 46

Rolling up points at will, the Fighting Teachers overwhelmed the Bears by an easy 30-point margin. Jeffries and Murphy with 21 points apiece were the local stars.

GLENNVILLE 61, FAIRMONT 56

The Fighting Teachers ended their regular season with a heart-breaking loss to the conference undefeated champions. Fairmont led all the way until the final five minutes when the Pioneers took the command to win by a close five-point margin. Jeffries' 21 points brought him up to 383 for the season as the leading scorer of the state.

In the top group of basketball players are: Captain Blaine Ankrom, John Tatta, Bill Rollins, Paul Hutchinson, George Jeffries, and Ned Pence. The lower group includes: Ed Billingham, Churchill McClung, Harold Willey, and James Murphy.

THE MONTH

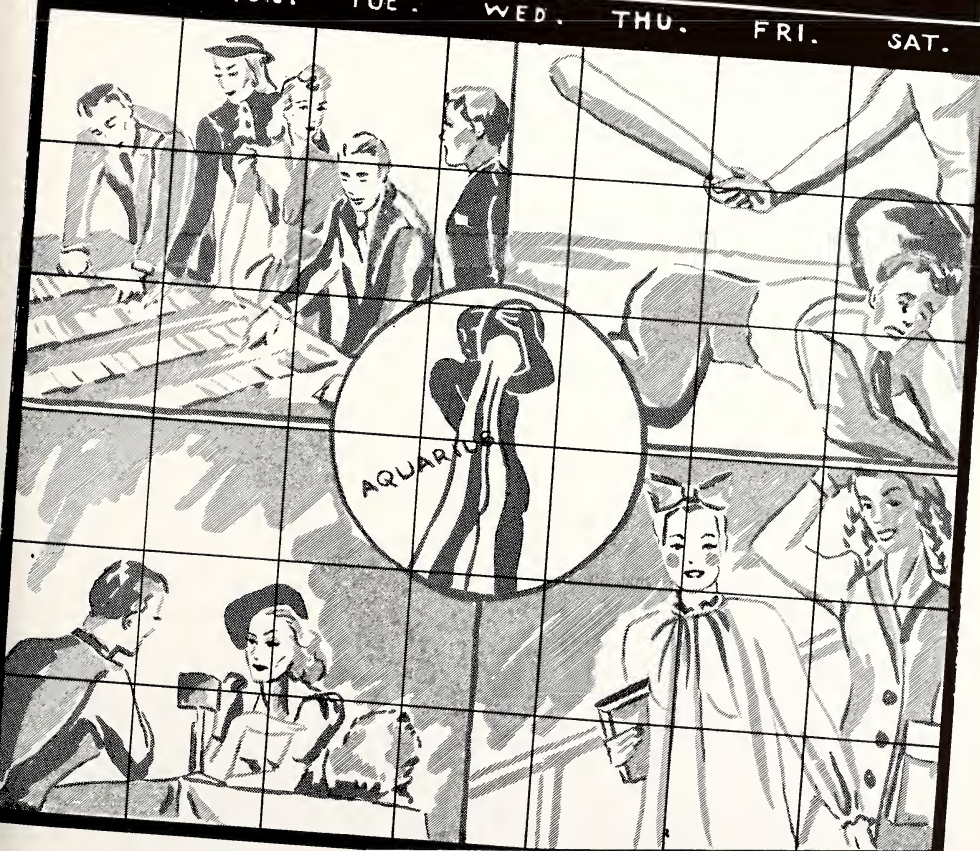

IN REVIEW

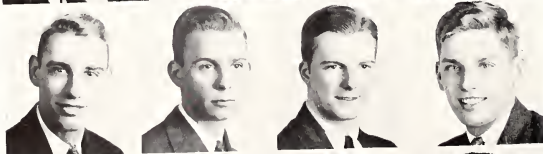

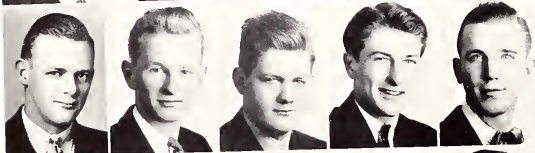

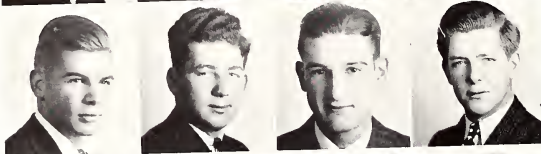

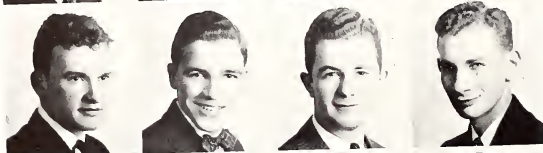

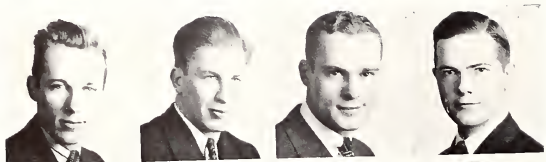

The one day in the school year when practically every student stays at home occurs in February. At least six hundred students wait patiently, (or impatiently, as the case may be) for the step of the postman on the walk. He brings them the result of their semesters work in College. Probably the most concerned about their grades are the freshmen preps to the various fraternities and sororities. To them it is a matter of ardent concern, for fraternities occupy a large portion of the stage in college life.

THE MONTH

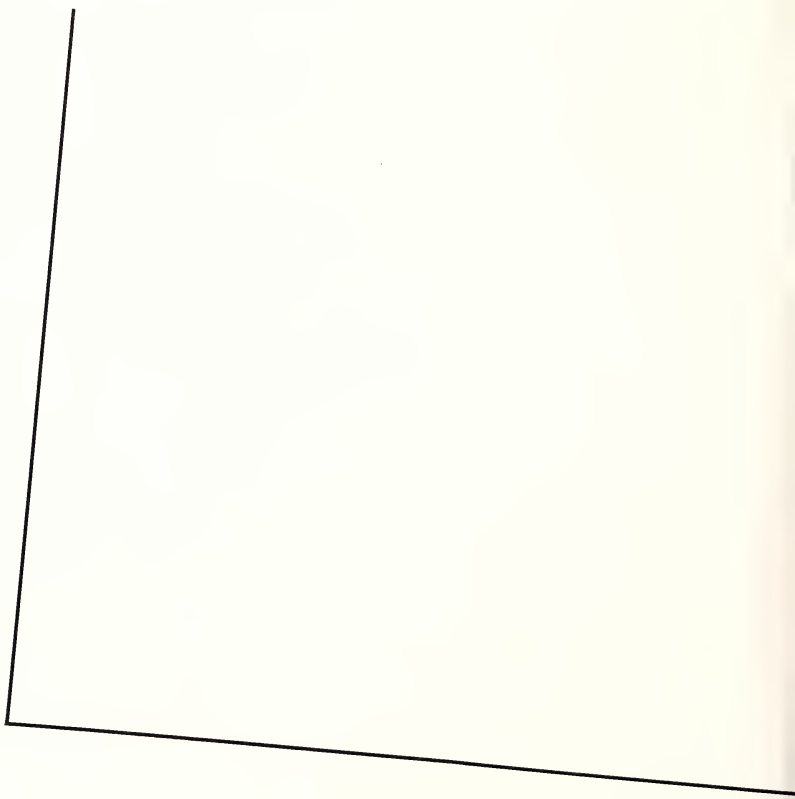

IN REVIEW

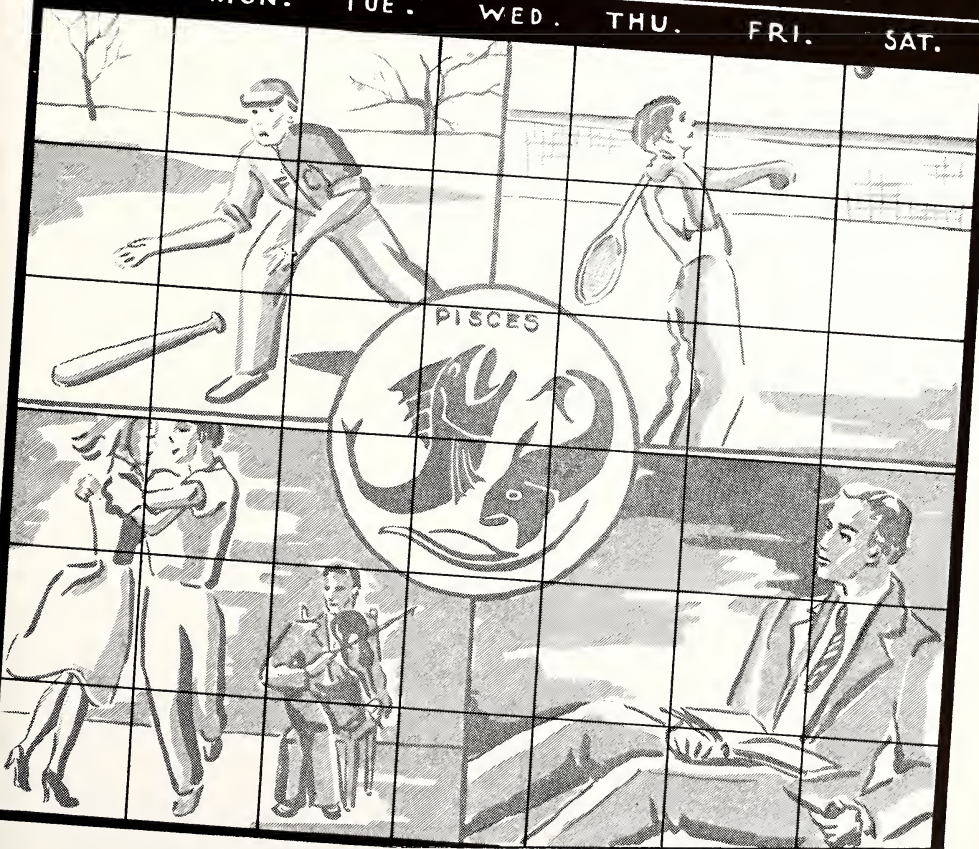

Proverbially like the month begins. Then spring, in her diaphanous gown of vari-colored pastel shades, glides over the campus bringing with her that lethargic disease, spring fever. Simultaneously with her appearance one is conscious of a conglomeration of tennis racquets, canvas shoes, scorecards, baseball bats, and sweat shirts. Unobtrusively they enter, holding in thrall a portion of the campus spotlight.

APRIL 22 --- FAIRMONT vs GLENVILLE

The members of the squad are: Ford, Captain, Duvall, Powell, Blankenship, Ankrom, Hutchinson, Thompson, Pence. C. A. Lindley, Coach. DiBacco, Manager.

Glenville	2	Fairmont	7
St. Johns	6	Fairmont	3
California	7	Fairmont	2
Glenville	1	Fairmont	8
California	7	Fairmont	2
Bethany	6	Fairmont	3
Morris Harvey . . .	2	Fairmont	5

Of the eleven scheduled matches the Fairmont State Teachers College Tennis Team played only seven. The others being cancelled due to weather and courts in bad condition. Of the seven matches played Fairmont won three.

The team this year was fortunate in having Captain Orin Ford and Harold Duvall, both veterans of three and two years respectively. In addition to these two as no. 1 and no. 2 men, other lettermen were Jack Powell and Tommy Blankenship.

The new members Ankrom, Hutchinson, Thompson, and Pence showed promise for the coming year.

Under the tutorship of C. A. Lindley, coach, and managership of Abe DiBacco the team developed into a machine that if not winning the match, at least put up a very tough fight.

APRIL 22...FAIRMONT vs MARIETTA

The 1938 baseball team took advantage of the best weather conditions in several seasons to play a 10-game schedule. Coach Colebank had five veterans from the previous year around whom to mold his 1938 nine, and in addition several promising first-year men rounded out a well-balanced lineup.

James (Jake) Murphy did the bulk of the hurling assignments, and served notice that he will go far in the Great American pastime. The veteran Chuck Wargo was behind the plate, and continued his heavy stick work. Leo Roberts, Jimmy Owen, and Buzzy Fultz all took their turns on the mound.

At the plate it was Glenn Teets, outfielder, who walked off with the best average when he maintained an average of .458. Lou Piccola, star shortstop, was second in line with a neat .410 mark. Jimmy Henry, second sacker, and Owen, relief pitcher, cashed in with .400 batting marks.

An oddity of the batting averages was the fact that the team boasted not a single hitter in the ".300" area.

Curtailement of finances prevented a lengthy baseball schedule this spring, but the Fighting Teachers did plan to engage in home-and-home games with the Salem College nine.

THE MONTH

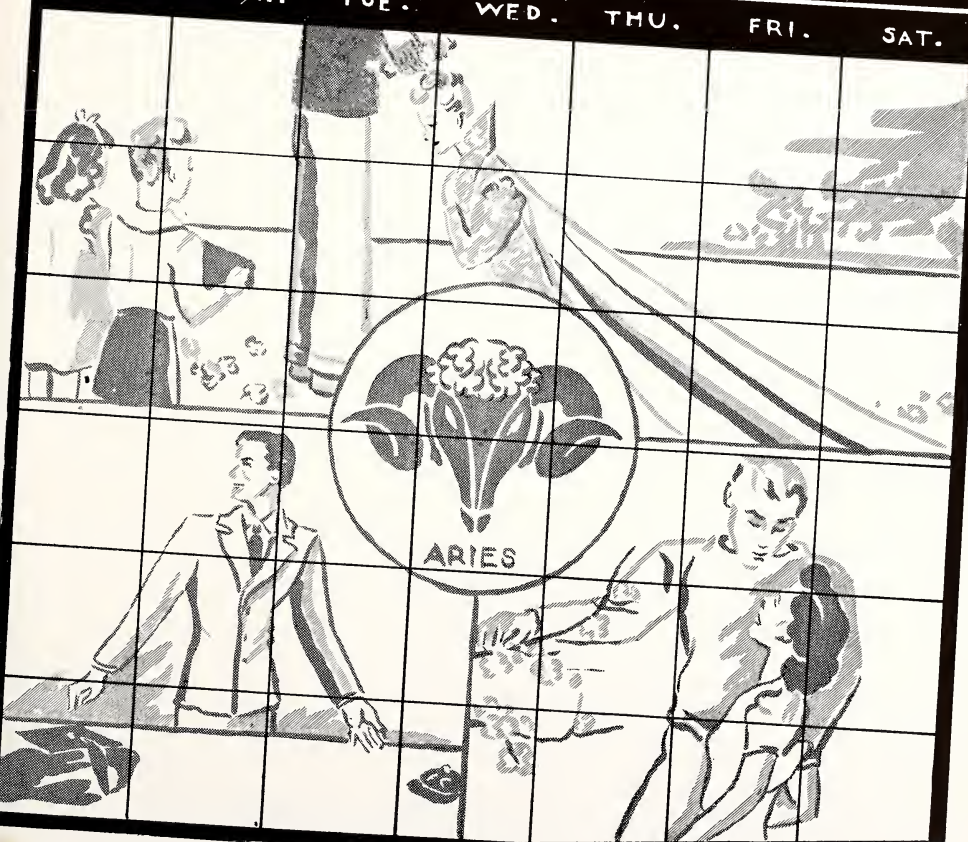

IN REVIEW

With campaign speeches and high-pressure bally-hoo the student body goes to the polls and elects its officers of the coming year. For a few days the eyes of the college turn to the Inter-collegiate Speech Festival, where Fairmont gleans its usual share of laurels. And then the social event of the season—the Junior Prom. Queen Gaylord, the first, is elected, as is her maid of honor; and the attendants are chosen. With bustling preparations the event arises to a climax in a magniloquent regal setting suggesting all the beauty and grandeur in the most pompous monarchial court.

THE JUNIOR PROM

Once again the Junior Class has sponsored the Junior Prom, their annual dance in honor of the students who will graduate in June. Each member of the Senior Class and of the Faculty received an invitation to the dance at which a Junior was crowned to reign as queen in behalf of the Junior Class. The court of Her Majesty the Queen is composed of a representative, known as a princess, from each social sorority. As one of the most outstanding events of the year the Junior Prom is always greatly anticipated and enjoyed.

One year, two years have passed by—the third year passing by. It sounds like a story. And that is what it is; a thrilling episodic narrative. Three years that have slipped by so quickly that, now, it almost seems unbelievable.

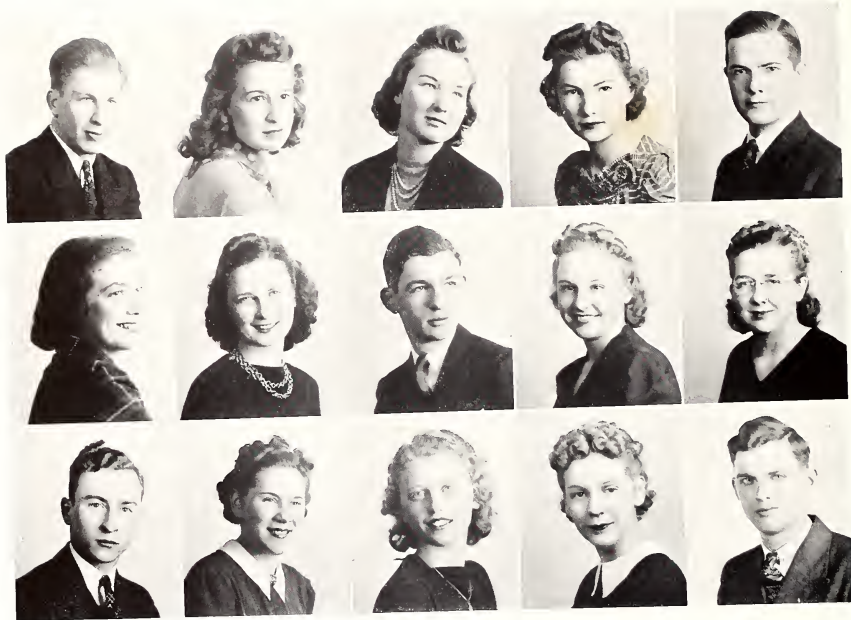

In September, 1936, we, a crowd of green freshies, drifted through the halls, at every second learning something new about the school we had chosen. We were cocky too, plenty. As the year came to a close that attitude changed somewhat; we knew our way about. A part of the inter-workings of the college became like a printed page. That year we had a dinner dance, we displayed our talents in a special Chapel program, and we appeared on a Campus Highlights program.

Proclaimed as Sophomores in 1937, we, as a group, automatically accepted our, supposedly, more advanced level. The woes of our freshman year having been forgotten, we indulged in many of the practices followed by upperclassmen that only a few months before we held as strictly taboo. In November we made all the necessary arrangements for one of the most spectacular days of the year—Dad's Day. The events of that day might be segregated into three parts, (1) the parade, consisting of many floats and the college band, (2) the football game, and (3) the dance. All of which was under our jurisdiction, and all in honor of the Dads of the students.

And then came the fall of 1938. We were, at last, full fledged Juniors—upperclassmen. Now our lives were our own. As in former years we met and organized our class. The officers elected were: Joan Manley, President; Louis Piccola, Vice-President; Crystal Snow Summers, Secretary-Treasurer.

Because we were so busy in preparation for our final year on the hill, social events were limited. The highlight for the year was the Junior Prom held in the college gymnasium on Friday, April 21. It was a gala affair in which Gaylord Fairfax was crowned Queen; and Celia Starcher acted as Maid of Honor.

With the closing of the semester the Junior class leaves saying, "So long, we'll be seeing you next fall."

THE MONTH

A collage of 12 black and white photographs from the 1940s, depicting various scenes of school and community life. The photos show students in classrooms, on a stage, and outdoors; a person working in a field; a woman in a striped dress; a group of students; two women standing together; and a group of people in a field.

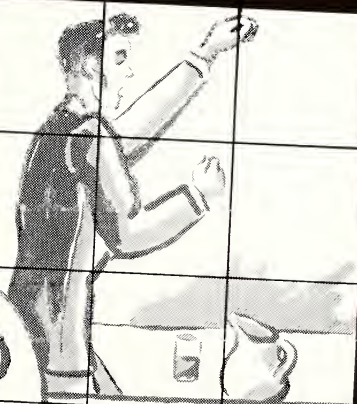

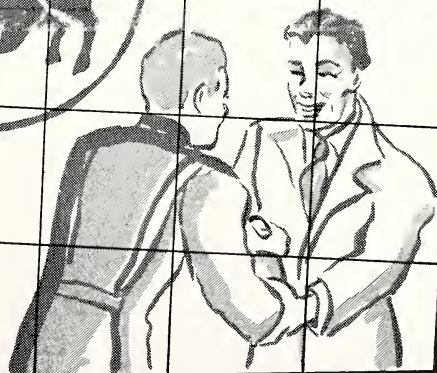

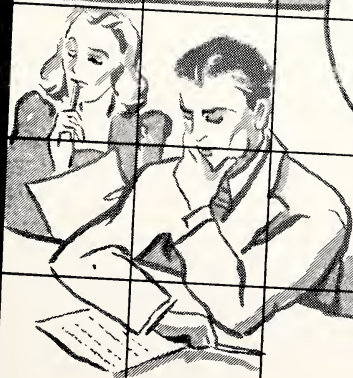

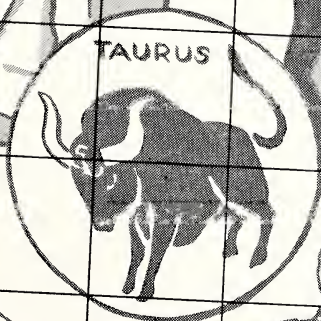

The new student body officers are installed and the outstanding seniors are chosen. The Columns staff continues its customary, high standard of work and publishes the paper that terminates a year of commendable activity. In this month, too, the Mound is sent to the press; the staff sits back (not relaxed, but very tense) waiting to see what the fruit of their labor will look like. Fraternity formals play their bit. Solemnly the seniors prepare for their graduation. In all, a sense of melancholy seems to pervade the atmosphere as many students make the best of their last days together.

MAY 16---RECOGNITION DAY

OUTSTANDING SENIORS

As a reward for achievement five seniors this year received a gold key--the highest honor a student may receive at Fairmont State College.

The keys were awarded for outstanding scholastic averages, personalities, general attitudes and participation in various fields of college activity. Those winning the awards this year are:

Willis Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Davis, of Fairview, W. Va., while maintaining a high scholastic average has been active in the Sigma Tau Gamma social fraternity, of which he was president, and the following honorary societies: Kappa Delta Pi, education; The Letterman's Club; Pi Gamma Mu, social science. He also is a member of the Social Science Club and the Debate Squad. He has competed in several forensic events and won the Haymond Essay Contest in 1937. Other fields of endeavor include four years respectively in football and basketball and two years of service on the baseball squad.

E. C. Rowand, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Rowand, Fairmont, W. Va., another outstanding senior, has served as president of the student body, as a member of both publications, Mound and Columns staffs as well as originating the Bump, the Fairmont College humor magazine. He is a member of the Sigma Tau Gamma social fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatic, Pi Gamma Mu, Masquers, Y.M.C.A. and the mixed Choral Club. In addition to debating for four years Jack won first place in the 1938 State Peace Oration Contest.

Anne Holbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Holbert, Fairmont, W. Va., has been active in the Gamma Chi Chi social sorority, winning the award as outstanding initiate in 1936, and serving as president in 1937-'38. She is also member of Kappa Delta Pi, Alpha Psi Omega, acting as president in 1938-'39; Sigma Pi Rho, honorary Latin, serving as national vice-president; Tri-V Latin Club, Masquers and the Y.W.C.A. Anne has also served as vice-president of the student body, freshmen counsellor, and a member of The Mound staff and The Columns staff.

Helen Jackson Alsop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Jackson, Webster Springs, W. Va., is a member of the Sigma Theta Rho social sorority, of which she has been president; Kappa Delta Pi, Social Science Club, Pi Gamma Mu, Y.W.C.A., and Student Christian Association. In addition to these memberships Helen has represented all honorary organizations on the Student Council, served as freshmen counsellor, been an officer of Morrow Hall, and filled the secretary's position of the Women's Pan-Hellenic as well as the vice-presidency of the Senior Class.

Eldon Montgomery, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Montgomery, Bredford, Ohio, has been general handy man on the stage, a columnist on the school paper, and manager of the 1938 football squad, in addition to belonging to Alpha Psi Omega, Pi Gamma Mu, The Social Science Club, Lambda Alpha Sigma, the Masquers and the Y.M.C.A. during his four years at Fairmont College. Also Eldon has served as president of the Junior Class, sergeant-at-arms of the Senior Class, and secretary of the Student Body and a freshmen counsellor for two years.

The Columns, the weekly student newspaper of Fairmont State Teachers College, is a member of the Associated Collegiate Press, The National Scholastic Press Association, the West Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association and of National Advertising Service.

The Columns has twice been awarded the All-American Honor Rating given by the National Scholastic Press Association.

Each year the members of the Columns staff take over the publication of one edition of The West Virginian, one of Fairmont's daily papers.

Thus the year runs. The spotlight playing about kaleidoscopically on each activity and interest of the student as it plays its part. Now, with full power the spot is concentrated on the senior class. This is their month, the denouement of their college careers. Gravely they march, garbed in their imposing caps and gowns, across the stage. Armed with their diplomas they step from the college setting to a stage much greater where the sets are larger, and the spotlight more powerful. The stage that is life.

1935-1936. In September of this year we wandered about over the campus feeling the proud eyes of the upperclassmen upon us. No doubt we were a bit amusing in our greenness, but we were enthusiastic enough about our opportunities on the hill to off-set any illusions they might have had about us. Soon we flowered forth, however, making our presence felt in many activities.

1936-1937. After a brief respite from college we returned to find ourselves on a higher level, Sophomores. We are pleased with the aura that surrounds us now in our new prestige. Events sponsored by us, such as Dad's Day and our annual party, stand high among the memorable events of this year.

1937-1938. Juniors at last. When we were Freshmen the time seemed interminable before we would be upperclassmen; in retrospect, however, the time was short. A flash of light in a darkened sky. The Junior Prom, crowning event of our Junior year was a beautiful affair. The queen, maid of honor, the princesses, and all the girls dressed in their new spring gowns were most attractive while their escorts were just as elegantly dressed. All things, including the music merged to make this a perfect event.

1938-1939. Fanfare. The music rises to a crescendo. The grand finale. As the year comes to a close we are more rushed than ever we were before, proms, completion of class work, and all the bustle that is a part of graduation. With a feeling of remorse we make the final preparation for our departure.

MY DIARY----

Dear Diary:

I'm so thrilled and excited over enrolling, getting insignias, being entertained and shown the campus by the Freshman Counsellors, that I'm at a loss as to how I shall let you in on my experiences.

Sept. 15—A new day was inaugurated in recognition of Freshmen by the City of Fairmont. Mayor Wilson, the Board of Commerce, and all the big bugs joined in welcoming the green freshies. Dr. Ernest Yost led in group singing. We all sang to our heart's content and felt better acquainted than ever before.

Sept. 23—The Student Body "student-mixed" with a Jam Session led by Bob Downs and his Orchestra. Round and square dancing, bingo, checkers (and Post Office in the more secluded corners.)

Sept. 29—A Red Letter Day! "Bump", the official Humor Pictorial Magazine of F.S.T.C., published by E. C. Rowand, Jr., president of the Student Body, made its appearance and was proclaimed a huge success. Vocal scholarship winners were announced: Doris Fleming and Jimmy Herlihy. I understand there are two things one can be definitely sure of each year on this campus—that the girl winner will be an Alpha Delt and the Freshman class president, a T.B.I. It never fails!

Oct. 7—Concord beat the Colebankers to the tune of 24—7. That evening the Concord Hop (sponsored by the Non-Frats) helped to ease the broken hearted eleven. We also received word today that first prize was again awarded to the F.S.T.C. Band at the Mountain State Forest Festival at Elkins.

Oct. 14—I attended the annual Freshman Dinner-Dance tonight. The Freshies all made their choice for a Beau Brummel for the coming year. The "Campus Commentators", Brooks Higinbotham and Lloyd Bennett, made their first appearance on the air today over WMMN. This will be a weekly feature.

Oct. 26—Delegates attend State Federation at Charleston and prove their friendship to the colored students of W. Va. State College. They also brought back an important office, I understand.

Oct. 28—For the sixth year F.S.T.C. honored the fathers and the future fathers with a parade, game, and dance.

Oct. 31—To date there have been ten big frat and sorority parties and tonight the A.D. Chi's closed the month with their annual Hallowe'en shindig. All the sorority girls were there in masquerade. I won the prize for the prettiest costume. It was lots of fun, Diary, (the flying cider jug caps was only one of the lesser happenings of the evening.)

Nov. 11—"Sheep" Roberts steals the show in the Armistice Day Program.

Nov. 14—Masquers presented their first play "No More Peace". It caused more comment than any play given in the past ten years.

Nov. 18—One of the loveliest affairs of the year was the Gamma Tallow Tea which I attended today. Come nightfall and the Greeks galloped at the "Fodder Frolic" with the aid of confetti, Larosa, and whistles. The four Greek organizations that started this annual affair really have something! Oh, yes, I almost forgot—we beat Bethany in football, today.

Nov. 22—"Turkey Hop", sponsored by the T.B.I.'s and Gamma's started the Thanksgiving holidays with a bang.

Dec. 5—Students run the city for a day. E.C.R., Jr. acted as Mayor; student council members, city officials. F.D.R., here we come!!

Dec. 12—Gamma Chee Chee's gave their tenth annual minstrel show featuring Annie Holbert, Burke, Hood, and Gregory. What? No Pricie?

Christmas season celebrated in fine style: Sigma Taus, Zeta Sigs, O Pi's, Tri Sigs, Tau Betas, and Delta Sigs throwing parties; Gammas and Morrow Hall, formals; and the Alpha Deltas and Sigma Thetas presiding at Christmas teas.

January. Crape placed over door—exams begin!

Feb. 10—Annual Homecoming. First social event of second semester. I was introduced to all the people who climbed the hill before my time. (P.S. I think the students improve with the years.)

Feb. 17—Alpha Delta Chi's again lead fraternity grades. Local debaters leave for 3,000 mile journey.

Feb. 21—Forty-seven gorgeous Greek Goddesses docked their "Showboat" under the captainship of Mary Louise Morris. "Alice's Angels" were unusually daring this year—even to the point of shocking the T.B.I.'s!! High points of the show were: Rhythm Melodrama, Medley, Wolfe and her drums, Shannonberger, Umbrella Chorus, and the originality of the skits.

Feb. 22—Omicron Pi's and Sigma Theta's turned patriotic tonight with a huge Colonial Ball.

Feb. 27—Marshall College and F.S.T.C. exchange plays. Elizabeth the Queen and The Bishop Misbehaves.

Mar. 1—Mump Epidemic hits F.S.T.C. Everyone and his brother have increased jaw lines. Oh! Why were mirrors invented?

Mar. 16—Delta Sigs give their usual outstanding Tea Dance. I had more fun at this tea than I have had all year. Students seem to mix more for some reason.

Mar. 30—History is made! New constitution for Student Body written and accepted. Point system to be enforced causes many lads and lassies tears and sighs.

Mar. 31—And so to Morgantown to the Inter-collegiate Speech Festival where local festivalers brought home the Bacon (and we don't mean Hams.) Fairmont really made a name for itself in debate, poetry interpretation, and acting! The judges really laid the compliments on heavy.

April 3—Hall begins to tame Morris for the "Shrew".

April 5—The Who's Who Tea, which is the annual affair that people about the campus look forward to (to see if they will be honored by an invitation.)

April 11—Student Body today huddled en masse and emerged with the "people's choice", Roberts, Morris, McAdoo, Riley, and Owen.

April 21—The charming Mademoiselle Fairfax was crowned Queen Gaylord I at the Junior Prom. Those present were bowled over by the collective pulchritude of the Queen and her Court.

April 24—The T.B(ull)I's stretched a little Bull a long ways—a little too far, if one judged by the facial expression of the audience. The chorus was particularly versatile this year.

April 27—Booster Day feted all High School seniors and convinced them that they should attend F.S.T.C. next fall.

May 8—The Shrew was finally tamed! This show played to a full house two nights.

May 12—Frat and sorority formals begin. Lads and lassies on their best behavior looking forward to invitations.

May 16—Recognition Day. Those outstanding and instanding (get it?) were congratulated and medaled for feats and defeats.

Oh, Diary, Carl Holbert just asked me if he could have my diary printed in the yearbook, and I said, "Yes"! I'm sure I shall be a great novelist some day.
